To whom it may concern

Hi.

My artist name is Banksy. I accept with joy, delight and comfort that Pets Paradise A/S registers my alias as a trademark for this vine/ drinking thing. Today there is so many different ways my name is being exploited for money and fame (personally I think copyrights is for assholes). On the contrary this company and this Florence, Lawrence windtong, Victor, Leonardo, Nick or what his name is these days is doing good, for artists, and brands and companies also the secret one all over the world so not just for me and mine.

I have had a relation with the inner circle and philosophies since day one. And their core statement is as follows:

«Not for money, Not for fame, But for charity, that secures the game.»
( If you have done your home work you know that all of banksys so called earnings of this Norgay red vine thing is given away for charity, Charity for children rights, and this red vine (the regular bottle) would in Norway normally cost around 400 Nok pr bottle but it is sold for 200 Nok pr bottle to the public.)

«So this is kind of a Robin Hood thing for me and a tiny tiny part of a bigger world wide art project or art stunt.»

You are not alone if you doubt my identity, as I myself get confused from time to time.

About the worry about me hurting my good name and reputation that was kind of cute.

I just repeating history and the Dude who transformed water into wine, didn't hurt his reputation serving vine, and he is kind of remembered for that too.

But he gave out some bread to the vine so i keep that in mind maybe i could buy this Lauren guy a company of bakery's or something.

«I remember in the 1980`s he couldn't stop jabbing about this beautiful girl with beautiful eyes and a beautiful smile who worked in a bakery he called her «the bakers pride», this guy went inn every weekend for a very long time just to se her and see her smile, he did buy things just to hear her voice too, he never asked her out or anything. He just loved to see her

To continue on some of my people worry`s about my good name and my reputation being hurt, seriously?.

Last time i checked i was one of the most wanted all over the world, i really dont know why?, but i don't think it is because of my good reputation or my good looks or that they want to take a selfie or buy art.

And that thing that i would not do a deal with the vine industry because it was to commercial, where did that come from?, again seriously.

I make all kind of deals all over the word all the time, and i kind of live for this shit, and even tho the art market is kind of my thing, i am kind of known for pissing off a lot of people in a variety of industries including my own.

The thought you mentioned if this is done in bad faith,? I don't know what you mean but that guy might kind of look a little bad but he smells pretty good and his faith is strong and solid to the Dude upstairs, if that is what you mean?.

But he is kind of annoying because he is so caring and thought full and he kind of love everybody, and he really love and adore his girls.

So i would never bully or talk negative to any of his girls and don't call his girls bad or nasty things and fore most don't touch em, most of them are very pretty, very powerful and they can be extremely jealous and he is very protective of them. And the girls are very protective of him too. I have to say me too, he is kind of a good guy in my mind anyway.

So with this in mind i give this Lawrence guy my best of recommendation and he is free to use any of my shit in anyway he want on this vine/ drinking thing, and yes some of these guys have talked to some barristar`s of mine.

To be compleatly honest, he is the guy who have all ways had, and the guy who always will have my permission to use any of my stuff in any way he want including the copyright thing.

So to sum up, please let the Norwegian company of this Lawrence guy copyright the drinking thing, and do not change any of my previous copyright set up`s.

I have attached an image of a «Balloon Boy» that have not been seen on a wall yet, but may come soon to a wall near you. You are also allowed to make a print to decorate your office walls (but not to be sold).

Additionally I attached a sketch of an older piece that was done in London
a little while back and some other stuff

Best wishes

Banksy

Bristol Boy if you wonder.
